CHAPTER 112

The Dominion Courts Act

1. The Supreme Court of Canada and the Exchequer ^{Jurisdiction} Court of Canada, or the Supreme Court of Canada alone, according to the Supreme Court Act (Canada) and the Ex- ^{R.S.C. 1952,} ^{cc. 259, 98} chequer Court Act (Canada) have jurisdiction,

- (a) in controversies between Canada and Ontario;
- (b) in controversies between any other province of Canada in which an Act similar to this Act is in force and Ontario;
- (c) in actions or proceedings in which the parties by their pleadings have raised the question of the validity of an Act of the Parliament of Canada or of an Act of the Legislature of Ontario, when in the opinion of a judge of the court in which the same are pending the question is material, and in such case the judge shall, at the request of the parties, and may without such request if he thinks fit, order the case to be removed to the Supreme Court of Canada in order that the question may be decided. R.S.O. 1950, c. 108, s. 1.

2. Where sittings of a court created by the Parliament of Canada, or of a judge thereof, are appointed to be held in a place in which a court house is situate, such court or judge has in all respects the same authority as a judge of the Supreme Court of Ontario in regard to the use of the court house and other buildings or apartments set apart in that place for the administration of justice. R.S.O. 1950, c. 108, s. 2.
